ARE TO FIGHT BACK.

"RECALCITRANT" POPS TO HOLD A CONFERENCE SOON.

ARE WEARY OF BEING ABUSED.

WILL ISSUE A MANIFESTO THAT LEEDY WON'T LIKE.

Refuse to Be Buildoxed Into Supporting a Victors Measure-Kirkpatrick to Run for Congress Again-Kansas News and Gossip.

Topeka. Kas., July 7.-(Special.) Arrangements are being made by what are known as the "recalcitrant" Populists, or those who voted to pass the so-called Harris bill over the governor's veto lust winter, to hold a conference and issue a manifesto giving their reasons for so doing. The conference will be held the latter part of this month in Topeka. Those interested have been keeping the matter very quiet. but it leaked out to-day.

These "recalcitrants" have been corre-sponding with each other for the past three weeks, and it is said that the matter has progressed to that point where they have all agreed to attend the meeting and have designated Representative J. M. Doyle, of Republic county, as the one to issue the call for the conference.

The conference is forced by the fight being nade on these legislators by the state administration. Every Populist who re fused to vote for the Brown railroad bill or the Hackney amendment has been acvestigation an effort was made to smirch every one of them. Then the administration has been industriously at work in those countles molding public against these representatives and in favor of a maximum freight rate law.

In order to offset this, and at the samtime start a movement with the object of turning Leedy and his crowd down at the next state convention the "recalcitrants" decided to get together, compare notes and issue a manifesto.

The manifesto will, it is said, knock out the contention of the state administration that the people of Kansas are lying awake nights to clamor for lower freight rates. In the first place, the administration will asked to specify some of the people are making complaint. It is asserted that the only ones doing it are the Populist agitators who never do anything but sit on dry goods boxes and cry hard times. The complaint is not coming from the people making up the industrious portion of the Populist party. The "never works" and never sweats" are the only ones howling.

Then it will also be set out in bold letters that a fight on the railroads simply means a fight on the laboring men; that, if there was a wholesale reduction in rates there would be a corresponding reduction there suld be a corresponding reduction in wages. Many of the "recalcitrants" live in railroad towns, and they simply carried out the wishes of their constituents, the railroad employes, when they refused to support a radical railroad measure. It is also said that the manifesto will deal with things outside of the railroad question. It will give a history of the lobby work done by the governor to prevent the passage of a bill to abolish the Metropolitan police and tell some other secrets which may cause the administration some embarrassment.

They realize that they can't win on any of their old issues, so they will make the next campaign on the anti-corporation issue. They expect to ring in the sliver question, but the big crops in Kansas, with the fair prices for them, have knocked out this issue. They only talk sliver when there is a shortage of crops or low prices prevail. The anti-corporation issue is demagogical, but they hope to fool the people in that the same as they have on all other issues which they have advocated.

"The Republicans are in good trim for a campaign. The seed sown last year in Kansas will produce good results next year. Outside of all the principles the Republicans advocate many votes will come to our party on account of the Populist corruption of the last legislature. Every charge that we made of incompetancy and corruption has been sustained and thousands of honest old farmers are now ready to forsake the party of boodling reformers. "Since my return from Washington I have heard a score or more of men who voted the Populist ticket last fall declare that they were sorry they did it and would never do it again. The leading Populist in my county, one who has been at the head of the reform movement ever since it started, has become so thoroughly disgusted that he says he will never vote the Pop ticket again."

of the Law. Topeka, Kas., July 7.—(Special.) Governor Leedy to-day remitted the fines of James Newkirk, William Bennett, Louis Loebner and William Bader, Jour jointkeepers at Dodge City. These jointists were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment and to pay fines. They have served out their time, but are unable to pay the fines and are being are unable to pay the lines and are being held in custody on that account. This does not release them, however. The county commissioners must remit the costs before they can get out. The governor said he remitted the lines because none of them had any money and there was no way possible to get them to work it out. He thought perhaps they might profit by their long confinement and go to work in the harvest fields out there, where labor is in such great demand.

RECEIVERS MUST PAY. Assistant Attorney General Snelling

Says the New Bank Examination Law Is Good.

Topeka, Kas., July 7 .- (Special.) Assist nt Attorney General Snelling has written an opinion holding that the bank commissioner can legally collect a fee for the ex-amination of defunct banks in the hands of receivers. There is a provision in the new law requiring receivers of defunct banks to file reports with the bank commis-sioner the same as the officers of live banks sioner the same as the officers of live banks do. It also provides that the commissioner shall inspect these defunct institutions. Some of the receivers claimed that that provision of the law was unconstitutional, because a receiver is the arm of the court and that the commissioner could not tell the court what to do. They refused to pay the fee to the inspector. Commissioner Breidenthal asked the attorney general for an opinion, and received one to-day that the law on that point was constitutional and that the receivers would have to pay the fee.

A CHIEF YET NOT A CHIEF.

MR. VALLINS KEEPS ON WITH BUSI-NESS AS USUAL.

Some Uncertainty as to the Action of the Police Commissioners and Mr. Scarritt Said to Have Hied to the Governor.

Kansas City now has a chief of police who is not a chief, the state supreme court having held that he was never legally appointed. Yet he is performing the duties of the office, and may continue to do so for several months to come. Should Commissioners Scarritt and Gregory, who appointed Thomas N. Vallins to the office over the protests of Mayor Jones, apply for a rehearing, as they have threatened to do, he will continue to hold the office, as the motion for a rehearing will act. as a stay of execution of the order of ouster until the court disposes of the motion.

The commissioners are non-communicative in regard to their probable action in the matter, except to say that they are anxious to retain Vallins. Some of their most intimate friends are claiming that they intend to appoint him and commis-sion him for the unexpired portion of the term at the meeting of the board on Friday or Saturday. If they do this they will put themselves in a position liable to imprisonment. At the time Mr. Vallins' name was mentioned for chief, The Journal called attention to the fact that he was not a citizen of Missouri and of Kansas City, having been in the state at that time only about two months. City Counselor McDougal gave to Mayor Jones an opinion in which he held that the appointnent could not be made without violating the state constitution, the state laws and the state constitution, the state laws and the city charter. Among other legal impediments then cited was a law that imposes imprisonment in the county jail for appointing a non-citizen to office. The provisions of that law are as follows:

Section 3773. Sheriff to appoint none but citizens deputy, etc.—Hereafter no sheriff in this state shall appoint any under-sheriff or deputy sheriff except the person so appointed shall be, at the time of his appointment, a bona fide resident of the state.

can appoint none but citizens. The mayor chief of police and members of the board chief of police and members of the board of police commissioners of any city in this state shall be governed by the same restrictions and subject to the same penalties as a sheriff of any county under the provisions of this article.

Section 3776. Punishment for appointing any but citizens for police duty—Any sheriff of any county, or mayor, chief of police or member of the board of police commissioners of any city now holding office or hereafter elected to such office who shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of or member of the board of police commissioners of any city now holding office or hereafter elected to such office who shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of this article as set forth in sections 373 and 374 shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than three months nor more than one year.

Section 347. Every officer who shall be convicted of any official mislemeanor or misconduct in office of any official mislemeanor or misconduct in office of any officials which is by this or any other statute punishable by disqualification to hold office, shall, in addition to the other punishment prescribed for such offenses, forfeit his office. The attention of Commissioners Scarritt and Gregory was called to all of the provisions of the constitution, of the state laws and of the city charter, inhibiting the appointment was made, but they contended that these provisions did not apply to Mr. Vallins case. Commissioner Scarritt, who is a lawyer, claimed that the intention governed citizenship. He said Mr. Vallins had come to Kansas City with the intention of making his permanent home here, and that he was just as much a citizen as though he had lived and voted here for several years.

The opponents of Chief Vallins are determined that he shall not continue to hold the office unless the supreme court permits him to do so by delaying action upon the proposed motion for a rehearing. They are threatening to cause the arrest of the two commissioners if they give Vallins a commission until May 4, 1888, the date upon which the triennial reorganization of the police force will take place.

commissioner Scarrit was at mis once only a short time yesterday morning. Inquiry there and at his home in the afternoon elicited the information that he was out of the city, but those who made this statement would not say to what place he had gone. It was rumored that he had made a flying visit to Governor Stephens at Jefferson City for the purpose of receiving instructions as to the action of himself and Commissioner Gregory left the city last evening, and it is said that he also went to Jefferson City to see the governor. Both commissioners received telegrams from Lonnie yesterday, in which he informed them that their presence at the executive mension was earnessly desired. It is predicted by some of the best informed Democratic bosses of the city that the governor will command them to let go of Vallins and appoint some man whose citienship cannot be questioned. He has stated to some of his fellow state officers that he was tired of the fight that was being made upon him over the shoulder of Vallins and the commissioners, and it is likely that he will take advantage of the decision of the supreme court to put an end to the trouble. To-night's Council Meeting.

Mayor Jones issued a call yesterday for a special meeting of the city council tonight. A number of public improvements ordinances will be in the budget. Some of the members of the two houses are talking about requesting the mayor to call no more special meetings until September.

MR. WELSH GETS HIS ROAD.

County Court Orders Macadamizing of a Branch Line to Be Done at Once.

Milton Welsh, surveyor of the port of Kansas City, appeared before the county court at Independence yesterday and pre-sented a petition to have the road leading by his farm macadamized. The court seemed unanimous in favor of granting the request, and it was ordered that the work be advertised at once. The road is to be macadamized for a distance of a mile and quarter, and then the improvement stops, road leading by Mr. Welsh's farm is an a quarter, and then the improvement stops. The road leading by Mr. Weish's farm is an off-shoot from the Blue Springs road. Two years ago Mr. Weish had the road graded to his farm at his own expense, so he stattel yesterday, and it cost him $500. Ever state, he has been working upon the county court to have the road macadamized, and this he secured the consent of the county court to do yesterday at the expense of the county.

The order of the court caused some to think that it meant a change in the Lee's Summit road, and that the old road would not be macadamized as first projected but in time would be pushed on past the Welan form and connect with the old Lee's Summit road at Little Blue bridge. The order of the county court gave color to the rumor yesterday and caused considerable uncessiness. Judge Chrisman, who knows a thing or two about changing roads, said that there was nothing in it. Mr. Weish stated that his road was to stop at his gate, and would not likely go any further, as there was a discussion over the right-of-way as to whether the road would go through his farm or not. He stated that he was not cognizant of any change on the Lee's Summit road. It is not customary, however, for the county court to let contracts for parallel roads, and this causes the farmers to be somewhat concerned as to the main line Lee's Summit road being macadamize the old Lee's Summit road the present macadam road to Mr. Weish's home will remain simply as a private spur for the accommodation of Mr. Weish s

LIVELY TILT IN COURT.

Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings Bank Case on Trial at Topeka.

Topeka, Kas., July 7 .- (Special.) There was a lively tilt in the supreme court to-day when the case of A. E. Watson and others against the Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings bank, an appeal from Wyandotte, was called for hearing. Judge Horton appeared and filed a motion to dismiss as to the Realty Investment Company. the Corbin Investment Company and J. D. Strahan, in whom the title of the property in litigation rested. The attorneys for the creditors claimed that the title was passed creditors claimed that the title was passed from the bank to these companies and Sirahan for fraudulent purposes, and that was the reason they ran the attachments. They challenged Judge Horton's right to appear in the case, claiming that he was employed through collusion on the part of the attorneys for Assignee Holden and the assignee himself. Judge Horton was asked to produce evidence showing that such was not the fact. He filed a written instrument showing that he was employed by the two companies and Strahan. He was then permitted to make his argument on the motion to dismiss. The supreme court, howmitted to make his argument on the mo-tion to dismiss. THEY PASS A DAY OF ENJOYMENT IN THE SHADE OF TROOST PARK.

Speeches, Lively Songs, Interesting Reminiscences and a Fine Lunch Make the Affair an Enjoyable Oue,

The annual outing of the Old Men's As-The annual rating to the second of the secon shom has seen full threescore years, make pligrimage to some one of the outlying arks and spend the day beneath the leafy trees, talking over the "good old times," liscussing the present and prophesying the future. Well filled lunch buskets are taken long and after an hour or so of speechmaking and singing in the pavilion, the ladies prepare for the real event of the iny, an old-fashioned basket plenic. It is a fine sight to see the gray-bearded, ageent men revivified by the convivial in-tuences of good-fellowship, capering over the green sward and rendering a doubtful assistance to the women in the work of preparing the improvised tables. There was a good attendance at yesterday's out-ing, although it was not up to the average of the past few years.
"Weather was too hot for some of the ounger members," said one of the old men, who clearly was pust the 80-year mark.

re some men who can't go to church when it is raining, when it is snowing, when it is cold, when it is hot, or when it is unpleasant. Perfect weather conditions only bring them out. A few of the boys who belong to the association are of this stripe. Now, no kinds of weather affect me, and he straightened up with a proud and dignified men that lasted for quite five minutes.

"Yes," assented another member, "there employ between 1.50 and 1.60 men. They have decided to return to work to-morrow if protection is furnished. The deputies were appelisted on authority from the atorney general, the law permitting deputies to be appointed by marshals having recentiv been repealed. Marshal Devinney says there has been no trouble at the mines where the deputies will be used, but that they have been appointed merely as a precautionary measure. me," and he straightened up with a proud and dignified mien that lasted for quite five minutes.

The old men began to arrive at the park early after the noon hour yesterday. They strolled around beneath the trees, watched the animals in the zoo, puttered around the springs, and a few of the more venturesome shot the chutes. About 3 o'clock they all gathered in the pavilion and listened to several addresses by members and invited guests. Major William Warner had been invited to attend and address the gathering, but was called to Carrollton on legal business. He sent a letter of regret, part of which was as follows:

"From what I know of your membership I am of the opinion that the name of your organization should be changed from the Old Boys. Men are only as old as they feel, and the secret of life is to keep young in spirit. To keep young in spirit one must drink freely at the fountain of good will towards all men, and shun the bitter waters of hate. The men who imbiles freely at that fountain of youth will at threescore years and ten exemplify the saying of Oliver Wendell Holmes, that to be seventy years young is more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old.

saying of Oliver Wendeil Holmes, 'that to be seventy years young is more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old.' There are two paths in life, the sunny and the shady. Those who keep in the path of sunshine may feel in body the weight of years, but their spirits will ever remain young. Thus, practically, they are enabled to turn back the dial of time.

"I know that there are those who have seen seventy or more summers and winters who at times express a longing for the return of boyhood years, yet I am constrained to helieve that those whose lives have not been failures would not exchange even for the audacity of youth the fabric of their lives, into the warp and woof of which have been woven in the loom of their years, their joys and their sorrows, their lows and that friends. which have been woven in the loom of their years, their joys and their sorrows, their loves and their friendships. which have been woven in the loom of their years, their joys and their sorrows, their loves and their friendships. The man whose head is whitened by the snows of time, with bent frame, with unsteady step and with eyes dim, may at times say:

"I would I were a boy again."

"Yet in the same breath he will explain:
But I would be a father, yea, a grandfather, too."

"If youth has its joys and hopes, old age has its contentments and fruitions. Let us remember that we are living in a wondraw of the score or more years in this the grandest of the centuries, should inspire our song and give wings to our prayer. To have lived in the nineteenth century the years alloted to man by the psalmist is to have seen more of the world's history as measured by events than Methuselah was permitted to witness in a life of nine hundred and skxy-and-nine years. I trust that all the members of your association may be permitted to enjoy many more of your annual plenies. I conclude with the words of a poet and philosopher, one of America's old men.

"Yes, we're boys—always playing with tongue or with pen.

Judge Theodore S. Case told the association of the olden days and golden, when he landed in Kansas City forty years ago, the first day of last May. He came in with 200 other passengers on the good ship Minnehaha. His earthly possessions consisted of a trunk filled with clothing, a shotgun, some blankets, a medical diploma, to say nothing of one year's experience in practice. He had come West to grow up with the country. The Missouri Pacific was shen at Jefferson City and the nearest reliroad was forty miles north. Kansas City was then a lot of hills and hollows. Its population was of the border kind, some good, some bad and a great many of the indifferent kind. Two to six boats a day came up the river then. The levee was the scene of life and activity. Kansas was a territory and the Indians used to come here in droves to do their begging and trading. The Mexican greaser was here in all his pristine glory and profanity in the capacity of a driver of yoked oxen. The colonel told of the growth of Kansas City, the establishment of schools, the founding of its colleges and its steady advancement to a place of marked note in the commercial and industrial world.

Mr. Carroll said last night that his course in the matter was perfectly legitimate. He had received a telephone call from the city hespital shortly before noon yesterday to take the body of Green to his morgue. When he returned with the body Green's brother and several of the dead man's friends were at his undertaking rooms and told him to prepare the body for burial. He did accordingly.

"I had prepared the body for burial on the order of Green's brother and told Mr. Countee and the representative of the lodge to which Green kad belonged that I would turn the body over to them if they would pay me for the work I had done on the body," said Mr. Carroll. "Mr. Countee at first refused to do this. I told him that I would only charge him 5 for preparing the body for burial and he paid it."

The county examination of teachers which closed here to-day has developed an almost general disapproval among the teachers of the manner of questions complied for the examination by State Superintendent Stryker. Some of his questions in arithmetic and grammar are denounced by the teachers as ridiculously abstruse. It is said they have caused the failure of some of the county's most competent teachers.
